Dear Dorothy,

I find your WWII Flight Nurse newsletter most interesting. It was distressing to read of the passing of Dorothy Lonergan Jouvenant. She was the Chief Nurse at Dhahran AFB, Saudi Arabia when I was stationed there. She was a competent administrator and role model whom I very much admired.

There was another flight nurse frequently mentioned in your newsletter. It so happens I researched the career of Elsie Ott Mandot and published her biography in "American Nursing: A Bibliography", Volume 3, Springer Publishing Company. Enclosed is a copy of that article for your records. Her first Air Evacuation trip was remarkable and she was the first flight nurse to be awarded the Air Medal. I do hope you find this article of interest.

Best Regards,

Sincerely,

Dolores J. Haritos
